Lone Star Film Festival

November 4-8

Lone Star Film Festival (LSFF) and the Fort Worth Film Commission (FWFC) announce a joint partnership to co-produce the 14th annual Lone Star Film Festival. The festival will be held online November 4-8, 2020. The FWFC will also support in securing panel content and work closely with Hear Fort Worth to plug in local music into the festival. As a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, the Lone Star Film Society brings the world of cinema to Fort Worth each November through the presentation of the Lone Star Film Festival (LSFF). This five-day celebration focuses on the art of independent film and the creatives behind the content. LSFF also serves to showcase the City of Fort Worth as a potential production location, continually encouraging filmmakers to create and inspire within its borders. Dismay in a Manger

November 20-December 27

Texas Star Dinner Theater

816 S. Main Street, Grapevine, TX 76051

Every Friday & Saturday night in November; Thursday-Sunday in December with double shows on Friday & Saturday. Show times may vary according to date.

Early Show: Doors Open: 4pm

Dinner Served: 4:30pm; Show Starts: 5pm

Late Show: Doors Open: 7:30pm

Dinner Served: 8pm; Show Starts: 8:30pm

There are sounds of the holiday season dancing upon the evening air, Christmas carols being sung by a choir, sleigh bells ringing on the horses passing by, and fighting in the town square. What?! Oh no, there is dismay in the manger at the annual Christmas Pageant rehearsal. Mayor Rufus Yates has written a horrible holiday havoc and he's cast the show in a manner that has everyone's secrets at risk. Was Mayor Yates trying to roast more than chestnuts when he assigned the roles to this cast of Wild West misfits? Perhaps he is attempting to deliver his own yuletide ultimatum with this preposterous pageant. His outlandish interpretation of the Christmas story is destined to ruin more than one reputation. It seems the Mayor is trying to tell someone you cannot run from your past, especially if it just arrived on the last stagecoach. So join this perilous pageant posse and help their hero, Marshal Jim Courtright, sort through his list of who's been naughty or nice. This is one interactive murder mystery dinner experience that will put the "Ho Ho Ho" into your Holidays! Dinner & Show $59.95 + tax (gratuity not included).

Christmas in the Park

at Fair Park

Saturday, December 19, 8:30am
at Fair Park Automobile Building

This event makes it possible for low income families in the Dallas area and surrounding communities to experience the joy of the holiday season. Each year the event draws well over 40,000 in attendance at the one day event. Families attending receive toys, bikes, hot meals, groceries, clothing, household items, books, shoes, mattress sets and more.

The S.M. Wright Foundation is moving forward because of your kindness. Their mission is to provide programs and services that move less fortunate families forward from a position of dependency to a position of self-sufficiency. They appreciate your generosity in touching lives in our community. Thank you in advance for any donations you can provide. This year is very critical and with these gifts they can continue their work in helping less fortunate families in the Dallas/Ft Worth Community. For more information on how to donate, visit <https://secure.paperlessstrans.com/SMWright>.
